On Getting Paid.

It is reported that in a town very close to Paris a young man was called recently before the draft board for examination, and as he left his work and faced the members of the board he wanted to know who was to pay him for the time he would lose while he was in the war. He argued that he was getting eighteen dollars a week from the concern for which he was working, and he understood that the army paid but thirty-four dollars for four weeks' time.

The members of the board informed him that he would be paid out of the same fund from which they drew their pay, and that the same person who paid them would pay him. And he seemed satisfied until they went further and explained to him that not one cent of money is drawn by the men who have sacrificed their time and energies in conducting the registration, the examination and the worry attending them.

The young man was not selfish, neither was he unpatriotic. He was just one of those boys who made the mistake early in life of wanting to know, even before they went to work, how much the job paid. We have them here in Paris, boys who do not place a value upon a trade or knowledge of a profession, but who can only see the dollar in it. Any Paris man will tell you that the moment a boy applies for a position in one breath and then asks in the next "How much will it pay?" is not by any means the kind of boy that is going to make good on the job.

The boy who realizes that he must make himself worth something is the boy who will surely win out. And when he knows that the more worth he shows the better will his remuneration, he has learned one of the greatest secrets of success. He must learn, too, that life is full of sacrifices, just as many boys have learned for the first time since this war began. And he must come to know that while the world may owe every man a living that living is going to be hard to collect unless sacrifices are made.

A Paris doctor told us yesterday that a man can't get into the army or the navy if he is suffering with exophthalmos or nystagmus, and we fully agreed that he ought to be kept away from the other fellows if with him.

Using The Papers.

What promises to be one of the greatest, if not the greatest, advertising campaign the world has yet known, is soon to be inaugurated by the "dry" forces of this country. They announce that the sum of one million dollars is to be expended in advancing the cause of nation-wide prohibition. It is going to be a campaign which will touch every foot of territory between the lakes and the gulfs and all that lies between the world's two greatest seas.

It is of interest to Bourbon county people to know that the men back of this proposition have carefully studied the best means of expending one million dollars in advertising—and they have decided to put every cent of it in the newspapers. They have carefully considered the lecture platform, and they know that it proves good advertising. They have tested the billboards and the magazines, and they feel sure that thousands may be reached through these sources. They have tried house-to-house solicitation with only partial success. Now they are going to take the sum of one million dollars and spend it with the newspapers, declaring that careful study, in fact several years of careful study, has convinced them that only through the newspapers can a cause so gigantic as they are exploiting hope for success.

As a result every newspaper in this broad land will, no matter what its editorial sentiment may be, carry the message of prohibition into the homes that would not otherwise be reached. The expenditure of this million dollars in newspaper advertising is going to be watched with interest by Bourbon county people. And we can safely say that the people in every other county in all of the forty-eight States of the Union will watch it just as closely for the purpose of determining the real value of newspapers as advertising mediums.

Still another thing that convinces us that the world isn't as generous as it used to be is the fact that a Paris grocer won't let his customers "plug" the watermelons before they pay for them.

JAPAN AND AMERICA TO JOIN HANDS.

A new day among nations in which Japan and America shall "forget the little mole hills that have been exaggerated into mountains to bar our good relations," and "march together, work together, and fight together as comrades," was pledged in a recent speech by Viscount K. Ishii, ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary to the United States. Heading a special mission Viscount Ishii spoke for his government at a dinner tendered him. The Viscount was presented by David McNab, an attorney sent from Washington to arrange the reception of the mission and by the Governor of the State and Mayor of the city.

The speaker's stand was dotted with uniforms. High officers of the American army sat in khaki with Major General Hisakshi Sugano; naval officers in blue surrounded Vice Admiral T. Takeshita, the ranking army and navy representatives of the mission. The State department delegation was headed by Breckinridge Long, third assistant secretary.

OUR CAUSE FOR WAR.

"The military masters of Germany denied us the right to be neutral. They filled our communities with vicious spies and conspirators. They sought to corrupt our citizens. * * * They sought by violence to destroy our industries and arrest our commerce. They tried to incite Mexico to take up arms against us and to draw Japan into hostile alliance with her. They impudently denied us the use of the high seas and repeatedly executed their threat that they would send to their death any of our people who ventured to approach the coasts of Europe. * * *

"This flag under which we serve would have been dishonored had we withheld our hand"—Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States.

WINNING HER WAY.

The first woman of Indian descent to be admitted to practice law before the Supreme Court of the United States is Miss Lyda B. Conley, of Kansas City, Kan. Miss Conley is of Wyandotte blood and attracted much attention a few years ago when, rifle in hand, she prevented the removal of the bodies of her ancestors from an old Indian burial ground fronting the main street of Kansas City, Kan. The matter being taken to the courts, she carried the litigation to the court of last resort and was allowed to argue her own case by special permission of the justices. She lost, but acquired a taste for the law and applied herself to study so well that her admission to practice before the Supreme Court was moved by Solicitor General Davis. Her career will be watched with much interest by those who admired her pluck and determination in trying to preserve the old Indian burial ground, even though they realized that sooner or later the bodies would have to be removed.

STOMACH AND LIVER TROUBLES.

No end of misery and actual suffering is caused by disorders of the stomach and liver, and may be avoided by the use of Chamberlain's Tablets. Give them a trial. They only cost a quarter.

REAL ESTATE MARKET LOOKING UP.

There has been considerable activity in the real estate market in this city, with prospects of a continuance of the same for some time to come. Real estate men are optimistic, considering the usual mid-summer dull spell is on.

Mr. Harry Marsh has purchased of Mr. B. J. Williams the one-story brick cottage on High street, occupied by Mr. Williams and family, for $2,000. Mr. Marsh will occupy the home.

Mrs. Nellie McLaughlin, of this city, has purchased and taken possession of a handsome two-story residence at the corner of Sayre Avenue and Bell Court, in Lexington. Having sold her home in this city, Mrs. McLaughlin and her husband, Mr. Thos. McLaughlin, who is a deputy sheriff of Fayette county, will occupy the residence as their home.

Mr. A. Adami, of the firm of Adami & Santi, of this city, sold to Miller & Lilleston, two modern cottages located at the corner of Nineteenth and Brent streets, in the old Fair Grounds Addition to Paris, at a private price. The property adjoins property recently purchased by Miller & Lilleston.

Mr. John F. Young, of the county, purchased of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Willis their bungalow located on Cypress street, at a good figure. Mr. and Mrs. Willis will purchase other residential property in the city and will remain in Paris. Mr. Young sold his farm near Little Rock some time ago, and will give possession about the first of next month.

URGES QUICK ACTION ON APPEALS FOR EXEMPTION

Prompt action by exemption appeal boards was urged by Provost Marshal General Crowder, in a telegram to the Governors, declaring delays would mean that men with exemption claims undecided would escape the September 5 call to the colors at the expense of others who have waived exemption.

Every district must furnish 30 per cent of its quota on the first call, and unless the claims of all belonging in this contingent have been decided men further down the line making no claims will have to be moved up into the vacancies.

The Government desires that every man go as far as possible in his proper order.

Railroad officials are preparing affidavits for presentation to Exemption Boards in favor of many of their various employees drafted for army service. These releases will be asked for on the ground that the men are necessary in transportation movement affecting Government troops and supplies. These affidavits will be in addition to the exemptions claimed by the men on their own account.

CAMP SHELBY READY FOR KENTUCKY TROOPS.

Three regimental camps at Camp Shelby, at Hattiesburg, Miss., are completed and although no official word has been received either from Washington or from General Wood's office at Charleston, it is believed two regiments of Kentucky infantry and one Indiana regiment will be in camp there within the next week. It is known that the two Kentucky regiments have been ready to entrain for the past several days, but have been held up because Major William J. Howard, Camp Quartermaster, refused to pronounce the camp in readiness to receive them. Major Howard wired both Washington and Charleston that Camp Shelby is ready for the first 6,000.

So far as army officers stationed at Hattiesburg can learn no other national guard camp in the United States is ready for troops.

WISH WE HAD AN ARMY LIKE TEDDY!

Condemnation of treasonable utterances by street corner orators and certain American newspapers was voiced by Colonel Theodore Roosevelt in a letter written to Police Commissioner Woods, of New York.

The former President advocated an early eradication of the speakers. "We are in this war to a finish," he wrote, "and the man is a traitor to this nation who directly or indirectly upholds Germany or attacks any of our allies while the war is on. The newspaper that follows such a course should be promptly suppressed by the National Government and any failure to suppress such a newspaper is a dereliction of duty."

BRITISH FOREIGN MINISTER ADMIRES "OUR BOYS."

British Foreign Minister Arthur J. Balfour, who recently visited the United States at the head of the British Mission, wrote the following letter to American Ambassador Page, at London, after the parade of American troops there, which was reviewed by King George:

"The members of War Cabinet, who have just witnessed the parade of the American troops, desire to express their admiration of the magnificent sight and their deep gratification at this striking symbol of American power."

CHRONIC CONSTIPATION.

It is by no means an easy matter to cure this disease, but it can be done in most instances by taking Chamberlain's Tablets and complying with the plain printed directions that accompany each package.

PARIS TESTIMONY.

Home Proof, Here, There and Everywhere.

When you see Doan's Kidney Pills recommended in this paper you most always find the recommender a Paris resident. It's the same everywhere—in 3,800 towns in the U. S. Forty thousand people publicly thank Doan's. What other kidney remedy can give this proof of merit, honesty and truth? Home testimony must be true or it could not be published here. Read this Paris recommendation. Then insist on having Doan's. You will know what you are getting.

Phillip M. Heller, proprietor meat market, 722 Main St., Paris, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills a few times in the past and have been greatly benefited by them. Sometimes my back has been weak and lame and the kidney secretions have passed too frequently, causing me to get up at night. I have used a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at these times and they have always rid me of the complaint. I always think that they are a splendid medicine and gladly recommend them."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Heller had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. (adv)
